JCS Under Fire

Debate On Mac Drags In Brass

WASHINGTON, April 27—The Joint Chiefs of Staff were dragged into the Senate fight over dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur again today—the Republican leadership attacked the chiefs and the majority leader defended them vigorously.

The Joint Chiefs, as well as MacArthur, will testify before a Senate armed services-foreign relations committee inquiry into the Far Eastern commander's sudden firing. The hearings start next Thursday, with MacArthur as lead-off witness.

Senate Democratic Leader McFarland, Ariz., assailed GOP Policy Leader Taft of Ohio for his charge that the Joint Chiefs tailored their recommendations to the demands of the administration. The part of the Chiefs in MacArthur's dismissal has remained obscure, despite claims of their support by both sides.

President Truman assured a thorough inquiry in his news conference yesterday when he said that MacArthur could talk to the Senate probers without restraint.

TAFT TOLD the Senate he had lost faith in the "integrity of the judgment" of the Joint Chiefs, headed by Gen. Omar Bradley. The senator accused Bradley of having made a "foreign policy" speech as a military man and suggested the speech, delivered last week in Chicago, "was written in effect by the State Department."

McFarland replied: "I regret very much that Senator Taft made such a statement. It tends to destroy the faith of the people of the United States in those charged with the defense of our country. Certainly his statement is not founded on facts and is unwarranted in every respect."

Republicans and Democrats also were split on the question of whether the Senate investigation of MacArthur's dismissal should be handled in open or closed sessions.

Chairman Russell, (D) Ga., who is insisting upon closed hearings, said the Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees will decide Monday or Tuesday on such procedure. He contended that public sessions would hamper progress of the investigation and endanger security.

But Sen. Knowland, (R) Cal., a member of the Armed Services Committee, said closed meetings would be "more dangerous" because of careless "leaks" by committee members.

KNOWLAND CONCEDED that some sessions should be closed, when matters involving security are involved.

But the Californian said: "There are many questions the American people are entitled to have asked and answered in public sessions. One of the difficulties today is that we have lacked information. Certainly we can do this without violating the security of our forces in Korea."

Knowland contended that many highly classified documents "have no business being classified." He charged that many of them have been kept in the secret category "because they would be embarrassing to the administration."

Illegal Entries To U.S. Reported

WASHINGTON, April 27—The illegal entry of Mexicans into the United States today is "comparable to an invasion."

Such was the warning given to a house appropriations subcommittee by Deputy Immigration Commissioner A. R. Mackey in testimony released today.

Mackey said the constant apprehension and expulsion of the Mexicans, most of them farm laborers, has become an "burden" that the border patrol "is almost powerless to cope with the threat of dangerous types of aliens."

The deputy commissioner said 469,581 persons were apprehended by the border patrol last year—six and a half times as many as in 1945.

PLAYING ON THE BANK of the Mystic River near Somerville, Mass., four little boys pretended that their wooden sticks were boats engaged in a race. The current carried out three-year-old John Fedele's stick and, seeking to recover it, the child was drowned while his twin brother and his playmates stood helplessly. A fireman (above) wades ashore with the boy's body.

MAO'S MOVE IS AWAITED

Manchuria Bombing Seen If Red Air Arm Grows

LAKE SUCCESS, April 27—Western United Nations sources said today that attacks on Allied forces in Korea by "formations" of 25 to 50 Chinese Communist planes would bring prompt retaliation.

These sources said that such penetrations from Manchuria would result in pursuit by Allied planes beyond the Yalu river boundary and possible bombings of the Chinese air bases.

Provocation of an air war by Mao Tse-tung, UN informants believe, quickly will lead to tacit approval at Lake Success for carrying the air war into Manchuria.

It was pointed out in that connection that long before UN forces approached the 38th Parallel two months ago, there was silent agreement on letting these go across for the purpose of securing positions and bridgeheads in North Korea. This strategy is paying off exceedingly well in the current Chinese offensive.

6 Are Killed As Ammo Ship Blows At 'Rock'

GIBRALTAR, April 27—Six persons were killed and perhaps hundreds injured today when the 1,000-ton munitions ship Bedenham exploded with a tremendous roar at the Gibraltar naval base.

The blast sent thousands rushing to air raid shelters on the famed "Rock."

An admiralty announcement said that none of the dead was aboard the Bedenham. All of the 26-man crew escaped although one man was counted among the injured.

The intense confusion prevailing immediately after the horrendous blast made an exact checkup of casualties impossible.

A series of major and minor explosions following the initial blast, precipitating the rush of civilians to air raid shelters and the safety of concrete buildings. Pieces of the shattered ship clattered into the main streets of Gibraltar three-quarters of a mile from the wharf area.

Hardly a building in the harbor area escaped damage. Hundreds of windows were smashed. The famous Rock hotel, mecca of tourists visiting the principal British stronghold on the Mediterranean, and the Catholic cathedral were among the structures damaged.

B-29 Crashes

LISBON, April 27—Eleven crew members were reported killed and five seriously injured today when a U.S. Airforce B-29 Superfort crashed in the Azores Islands.

IN CASE OF WAR, JAILS TO BULGE

FBI Ready To Pounce Upon 14,000 Listed Reds In U.S.

WASHINGTON, April 27—The FBI is ready today to jail 14,000 key Communists in the United States whenever a third world war appears imminent.

Names of the 14,000 all potential saboteurs, spies and fifth columnists, are now on file with the Justice Department, which considers them the most dangerous of more than 43,000 party members, whose names are also filed and some 430,000 members, sympathizers and fellow travelers.

James M. McInerney, assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department criminal division, told a House appropriations subcommittee that the key Reds could be jailed without court action under provisions of the McCarran subversive control law.

McInerney said the Justice Department has combed through the Communists and sympathizers in the United States to classify and pinpoint the 14,000 most dangerous.

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover gave the committee the estimates on the total number of party members and sympathizers.

McInerney revealed that immigration authorities plan to pick up 5,000 Communists in the next year for deportation. Some doubt was expressed, however, whether all can be deported as not all countries will take them.

Hoover believes that most of the Communist Party in the United States has already gone underground.

Hoover said that the Communists have destroyed membership lists, set up underground bodies, and hold clandestine meetings in an effort to avoid detection.

Hoover gave a detailed account of how the party is operating now as a result of the recent conviction of 41 Communist leaders in New York for conspiring to overthrow the government.

Hoover said there were 43,217 Communists in the United States on Dec. 31, 1950, plus some 387,000 sympathizers. Over 50 percent of all Communist Party members live in New York state, "principally" in the New York City area.

They have a national committee of 13 members, of which 11 were convicted. Their cases are now on appeal.

They have formed a "so-called underground committee which will function in the event their top functionaries are arrested and sent to prison or are taken into custody at any time in a national emergency."

This group is called "the alternate committee." Hoover added: "Its membership is supposed to be quite secret."

The Communist Party is divided into 30 district organizations, broken down also into state, county, city, section and club units.

The smallest group consists of three or four persons. They meet frequently "in automobiles or out in the country, or some farm, or in some public park, so that they will not be identified."

Frequently they do not know each others' identity. They no longer have membership cards or membership lists.

Fuel Tanks Blow In Troy, Burn Out Full Block

TROY, April 27—Two huge gasoline storage tanks exploded here early today with a roar heard for eight miles, and the resulting 250-foot flames destroyed every building in the block.

Firemen from six communities stopped the spread of the white-hot blaze which threatened for a time to spread to four more big storage tanks, a lumber yard and a residential area.

No one was reported injured. However, authorities were unable to determine immediately whether anyone was in the demolished buildings.

Police Patrolman Paul Kessler said a 20,000-gallon tank and a 12,000-gallon tank owned by the Sinclair Refining Co., went up in two separate blasts about 4:15 a. m.

The flames took with them three Sinclair warehouses, an office building and a parts building of the Miami Petroleum Co., a big garage housing half a dozen gas trucks and two private homes.

Kessler said the families were safely evacuated from their two houses.

The officer said the whole town was "extremely fortunate" there was no wind. He said: "If there had been any wind at all, the fire would have travelled further, into the lumber yard and more houses."

Superforts Hit Red Strip Again

TOKYO, April 27—The Far East Airforce announced today B-29 Superforts dropped more than 100 tons of bombs at the improvised south runway of the enemy-held Pyongyang airfield.

Fourteen bombers attacked through dense clouds, using radar to aim their bomb loads on the runway, which the Communists have been constructing by widening a city street in Pyongyang.

It was the second successive day Superforts had attacked this target and was the twelfth successive day on which they had bombed enemy-held airfields in North Korea.

Brehm Hearing Is Recessed

Final arguments in the salary "kickback" trial of Dr. Walter Brehm, Republican congressman from this district, are to be presented Monday to the jury which is expected to begin deliberations on the case later in the day.

The trial was recessed unexpectedly late Thursday after the defense rested its case.

The 58-year-old congressman is accused of violating the Corrupt Practices Act by accepting $1,380 from the two clerks, Mrs. Clara Soliday and Mrs. Emma S. Craven.

Each of six counts of a federal grand jury indictment carries a maximum penalty of three years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Brehm was reelected to his fifth term from Ohio's 11th District last Fall despite the accusations which were aired during the campaign.

U.S. Genius Is Lauded

Industrial Machine Here Labeled Tops

NEW YORK, April 27—Defense Mobilizer Charles Wilson says the American industrial machine is now operating at such lightning speed that "a certain mustachioed gentleman from Moscow would be 'crazy' to risk aggression after 1953."

He warned, however, that inflation could ruin the entire defense program and urged "toil and sweat" to avert "blood and tears."

He pleaded with Americans to do their jobs as well as they know how, to be content with reasonable wages and profits.

Wilson denied what he termed three "canards." He denied that he intends to resign, that he was permitting a big business "conspiracy" to dominate the mobilization program and that he had seized power for himself.

Wilson declared that "there is a big job to be done and I mean to see it through."

HE TOLD OF making an inspection tour of Wright Field, Ohio, Wednesday to see new American weapons. He said he wished the publishers "had been with me to share the warm glow of pride I felt in our American genius of design, development and production."

Wilson added: "I can only wish, too, that a certain mustachioed gentleman from Moscow had been with us. Perhaps he might then begin to cut his ambitions down to size."

The defense chief declared that by the end of 1953 "we will be able to meet the demands of all-out war, if need be, out of our production lines. Then if any aggressor wants to tangle with us, he would have to be crazy to do so."

Suspect Is Held In Slaying Of Columbus Woman

COLUMBUS, April 27—Franklin County sheriff's office said today a suspect in the murder of Mrs. Ruth Alter, 32-year-old Columbus mother, was to be questioned this afternoon.

The spokesman said a 40-year-old Marion man was picked up last night in Richmond and is en route to Columbus in police custody.

Charles Davis, Richmond marshal, said the man was wearing bloodstained overalls when he was taken into custody.

Mrs. Alter's badly beaten body was found by her husband, Russell V. Alter, 39, upon his return from work on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The couple's 18-day-old baby boy was found crying in his blood-spattered crib.

Franklin County Sheriff Ralph J. Paul said he never had investigated such a "gory" murder case. A man's type loafer shoe was believed to have been the murder weapon with which Mrs. Alter's attacker beat her.

Red Horde Pours On Southward

550,000 Communists Take Part In Drive

TOKYO, April 27—A powerful Chinese Communist flanking drive by spearheads of 300,000 troops forced UN defenders back to a line only ten miles north of Seoul today and all civilians were ordered to flee the tottering South Korean capital.

In Washington, army intelligence estimated that 550,000 Communist troops are taking part in the current Red offensive in Korea.

An intelligence spokesman said the figure includes Communists in the front lines and troops just behind the lines who are available on call to commanders at the front.

The order for the third mass civilian evacuation of Seoul since the war began last June was issued by President Syngman Rhee's cabinet from its emergency capital of Pusan on Korea's southeast coast.

Five high officials of the Korean Republic's government flew from Pusan to Seoul to supervise the removal of an estimated 400,000 residents—an exodus which already had begun before the formal evacuation decree was issued.

DESPITE SEOUL'S growing new peril, the Spring offensive by a 400,000-man Red assault army was slowed Friday along the 110-mile battlefield.

In the west, hard-fighting Allied troops apparently abandoned the northern gateway hub of Uijongbu, 11 miles above Seoul, because of a strong Chinese flanking thrust.

However, spearheads of 300,000 Reds attacking on the west front were unable to carve out any further advances.

Similarly, fresh efforts by units of a 100,000-man Chinese force on the central front to break through to the important Chunchon-Kapyeong-Seoul highway were hurled back, with severe new losses to the foe.

The U. S. Eighth Army declared in its Friday night communique that the fury of the invaders' onslaughts in both the west and central sectors was "decreasing."

The bulletin said UN troops, waging "stubborn delaying" battles, continued to exact "heavy toll" of the Reds who had already suffered more than 36,000 casualties in the first four days of their offensive.

Below enemy-captured Munsan, the communique related, the Chinese smashed anew Friday against the front and flanks of UN forces defending the northwest approaches to Seoul. Munsan is 22 miles northwest of the capital.

Other heavy Chinese blows were unleashed down the Uijongbu corridor leading into Seoul from the north, and in the hilly area north-northeast of Uijongbu.

A FRIDAY NIGHT front dispatch said "slight pullbacks" were ordered above Seoul and west of Kapyong, but the Allied ranks were apparently held intact as the enemy pressure decreased through the day.

The dispatch said three big Red attacks were uncorked northwest, north and northeast of Seoul Friday—the heaviest coming in the area north-northeast of Uijongbu.

West of Kapyong in the west-central sector, the Eighth Army said a powerful Red attempt to reach and cut the vital Chunchon-Seoul line was repulsed.

Radars Speed Zone Readied

DAYTON, April 27—Dayton police will get a $900 radar speed control device to help curb fast driving on city streets.

City Manager Russell E. McClure authorized Police Chief M. S. Kirkpatrick to buy the equipment yesterday. Kirkpatrick said there will be no "speed traps" because all control zones will be clearly labeled.

Red Horde Pours On Southward

chon-Seoul lateral road was repulsed. Field advisers reported the Chinese were stopped after savage fighting much of it hand to hand.

Slight withdrawals also were made by Allied troops Friday in the east-central sector below Hwachon and near Inje, but the Eighth Army's communiqué said there was "no significant loss" of ground there.

A late front dispatch reported that North Korean Communist forces struck heavily twice during the day in the area of Inje which is four miles inside North Korea.

The first onslaught was hurled back after a violent firefight. The second attack was still in progress at a late hour and outcome of the fighting was not yet known.

A TARGET-OBSCURING haze over wide parts of the front reduced direct air support for the embattled UN troops Friday. But the Fifth Airforce said its pilots flew 366 battlefront sorties up to 6 p. m., and knocked out an estimated additional 700 Red soldiers.

In the west, the Chinese were pressing toward Seoul from three directions.

They drove straight down the Uijongbu "invasion corridor" from the north and attacked also from the northeast and northwest. Thousands of Chinese pushed down the ridgelines west of the corridor, outflanking Uijongbu, 11 miles north of Seoul. UN forces thereupon fell back.

Business Upsurge Noted In County

An upsurge in business activity was noted in Pickaway County during the second week in April over the same period last year, according to a report of sales tax stamps sold here.

State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy reported total collections of $6,132.01 for the week ending April 14, compared to $3,691.55 for the same week a year ago, a gain of $2,440.46.

Throughout the state gross sales of the stamps shown by industry classification showed gains in all classes of industry, with a grand total of $2,673,226.68 listed for the week ending April 14, compared to $2,293,145.76 for the corresponding period in 1950.

In counties neighboring Pickaway collections for the second week in April, compared with the same week last year, were as follows, with 1951 figures being given first:

Fairfield, $11,388 and $9,937.46; Fayette, $4,506.73 and $4,001; Franklin, $249,355.18 and $148,006.07; Highland, $4,139.65 and $4,469.70; Hocking, $4,737.34 and $3,175.60.

The will leaves all property, both real and personal, to her husband, B. F. Harden, for the term of his natural life or as long as he remains a widower.

If he should remarry, the will states, then the estate is to be shared equally by him and two sons, Thomas B. Harden and Ned W. Harden. The will further provides that on the death of B. F. Harden the remainder of the estate is to be shared equally by the two sons.

B. F. Harden and Joe Adkins Jr. have been appointed executors of the estate.

Judge Warns Against Play On Railroads

A warning against tampering with railroad property was issued Friday by Judge George D. Young in Pickaway County juvenile court.

The warning grew out of a hearing in which two 15-year-old boys were placed on probation for one year after they admitted destroying railroad property.

"Destruction of property is always a serious matter," said Judge Young. "But it is worse when the destruction is on railroad property, because, if extensive enough, it could cause a wreck and possible loss of life."

"In addition there is always personal danger when youngsters play around railroad tracks. It is a dangerous pastime."

The two boys were accused of knocking out signal lights, tearing down signs and putting rocks in switches along the Norfolk and Western Railway near Belts Siding. Damage was estimated at about $100.

Greenland Pact Said Signed

WASHINGTON, April 27—The State Department announced today that the United States and Denmark have signed an agreement for defense of strategic Greenland, vital weather observation post in World War II.

State said the defense plan is part of the North Atlantic Treaty program and pointed out that Greenland is a key point in atomic war strategy, since the weather of the Atlantic area "originates" there.

7.2 Million Persons Needed For Defense Work

WASHINGTON, April 27—Labor Secretary Robin believes the nation will need 7.2 million men and women for the armed forces and for essential defense industry production by the latter part of 1952.

Tobin said 3.2 million of these people will have to be recruited from outside the present labor force.

He explained that the remaining four million persons will have to be taken from civilian industries and from the already thin ranks of the unemployed.

Of the total, between 1.4 million and 1.5 million will go into the armed forces. The rest will go into defense industries to boost production of aircraft, tanks, and other weapons and military supplies, both for the U. S. forces and those of Allied nations.

Breaking down the manpower needs, Tobin said the new workers would have to come from these sources:

1. 1.8 million through a normal growth in the population and consequently in the labor force.
 2. 1.4 million from ranks outside the present labor force. This would consist largely of older persons and women, particularly women with grown children.

3. 600,000 through a reduction in unemployed ranks, already down to a mere job-shifting basis.

4. 3.4 million from non-defense industries, many of which are going to have to retrench drastically because the materials they use will be diverted to defense production.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

Conscientious teachers — and most teachers are very conscientious — have a hard task in deciding on the grade or group in which the child, especially in the primary grades, should be assigned for next fall.

As a rule she is better able to make this decision than is a parent, and her judgment should prevail.

However, she wisely confers with the parent for widening her measures of the child. But so often parents bring all sorts of hampering pressures on the teacher.

A teacher writes: "Remembering what you said in a letter I had from you last Summer, I am writing now to suggest a thought you might incorporate in your articles about the time school closes.

"Parents count the progress their child makes by whether he 'passes' or not at the end of the school year. They often feel that a teacher who wants to keep their child back is committing a crime. It is an idea that dates back to a long time ago that a teacher has a grudge she is administering in holding a child for further instruction in the room.

"LAST SPRING I held three of my first graders back. I asked the mothers to come in and I explained the situation. I cautioned them to guard against remarks that unthinking adults would make to their child such as 'Well, did you pass?' 'What, going to have to stay in the same room?' 'What's the matter with you?' or 'What's the matter with your teacher?' etc. One of the families where there were a lot of older childless aunts and uncles could have hurt the little sensitive first grader until he might have been a problem this year, whereas I think he gave it no particular thought and felt no disgrace as perhaps was the feeling of the adult.

"This year these little folk who just weren't ready at the age of six to take on school activities are doing fine and are just as happy as can be because they can do the work expected of them, and in fact often excel.

If I had not felt that I could have helped these youngsters I would not have troubled to keep them over. And one of the parents is quite happy now that I did give the child this chance.

"If parents just had some sort of a set of rules by which they could decide whether their little one was ready to start school besides the age, I think they might be able to understand what it takes to become a school pupil. In my opinion a child who can't tie his own shoes, button his own coat, recognize his own clothing, tell what his name is and his address, just isn't ready to start school whether six or ten. Parents are so proud to say, 'Jimmy can write his name,' and after a great amount of coaxing he prints some capital letters on a paper in any kind of fashion. Yet 'Jimmy' couldn't tell where he lived if he got lost.

IT SEEMS TO ME that this teacher gives some wise advice. When children are not promoted their parents' attitude is of first importance to the peace of mind of these children and their school success in future years.

Of course, there are some schools in which all children are promoted regardless of their school achievement and readiness for the next grade. While this plan seems easy for the teacher, pupil and parent, it does not guarantee the child's school success henceforth. There still remains the problem of helping the child succeed at learning, wherever he happens to be placed.

Many a school child could profit from some instruction during the Summer by a person who is calm, and patient and who sets him only at what he can do well as I have often emphasized in this column and developed further in the home helps in reading, arithmetic and spelling, available by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope sent to me in care of this paper.

Answering Parents' Questions
Q. Our daughter, fourteen, is very sensitive about a scar on her face.

A. Never refer to it or stare at it. Try to get all your friends to have like caution. At almost any financial sacrifice, have it corrected by a skillful plastic surgeon recommended to you by your family physician. Indeed, this daughter might be glad to start saving now toward the expense.

Vote Tampering, Probate Judges Bills Given OK

COLUMBUS, April 27 — The Ohio house yesterday passed three of its own bills dealing with vote tampering county judges and conservation and approved a senate bill which changes the name state Route 124 to Governor Robert Lucas Highway.

The vote was 106 to 3 on a measure introduced by Rep. Richard H. Woods (R-Cuyahoga) which would make tampering with ballots a felony instead of a misdemeanor. The bill, aimed primarily at election board officials, would lift the penalty for vote tampering from the present fines of $100 to $1,000 and three months to three years in prison to $1,000 fine and one to five years in jail.

A bill to permit probate judges to assume part of the load of common pleas judges in small counties, sponsored by Rep.

Critical Housing Label Expected

WASHINGTON, April 27 — The government is expected today to relax real estate credit controls in San Diego, Calif., to speed up housing production in the heavily populated city.

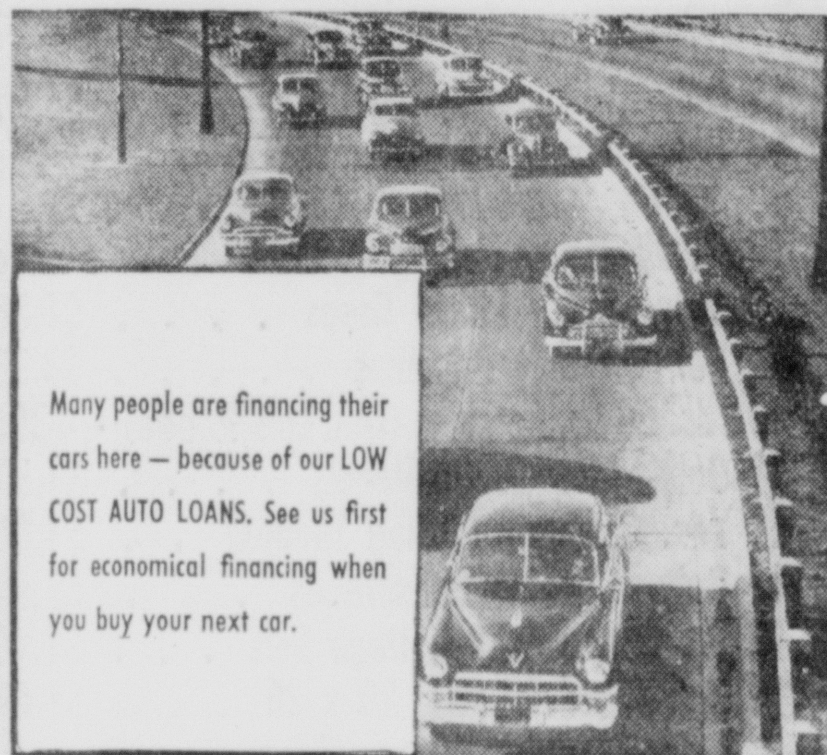

Defense Production Administrator William H. Harrison will declare San Diego a critical defense area and two other federal agencies will order the credit controls relaxed.

DPA has eased the regulations around new atomic energy plants, but San Diego becomes the first major city to be designated as critically short of housing.

Clarence L. Wetzel (R-Columbiana), was approved 107 to 8.

The conservation measure, sponsored by Rep. Ralph E. Fisher (R-Wayne), would classify wild turkeys as game birds for propagation purposes for a period of ten years. It passed 107 to 2.

Teen Tips

When you go to a party, did you know that——It's good manners to arrive at the time specified in the invitation, not earlier or later? And leave at a reasonable hour, whether others do or not. Sometimes everybody knows that they should go home, but they all wait for somebody else to make the first move. Why not you? Instead of wearing out your welcome and making the host's or hostess's parents rate, "A reasonable hour" depends on your age and what's customary in your community, probably ranging from 11 to 12 p. m.

—It's perfectly proper, etic-quette-wise, to chat with other guests at the party, whether you've been introduced or not.

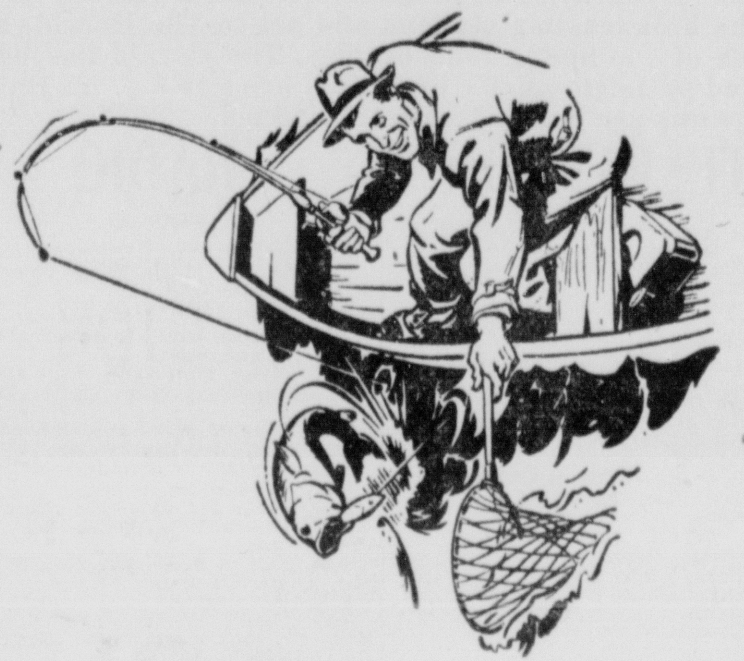

—If you talk a while with other guests without waiting for an introduction be smooth and introduce yourself. "I'm Joan Smith. You go to Central High, too, don't you?"

—Going alone into a room full of strangers (or even people you know—is less gruesome if you head straight for a definite objective—your hostess, somebody you know or a certain chair. Lost confidence is more likely to come back and embarrassment less likely to make you feel awkward if you know where you're going and put your mind on getting there.

—Good manners' rule is that you entertain those who have entertained you... a return gesture of hospitality should come from boys, too. If you're a boy, it's up to you to give a party, inviting those who have invited you to theirs. Or invite the girl to a movie, dance, or some other affair. If you don't want to entertain her, don't accept her invitation. Men have social obligations, too.

SOCIAL SECURITY OUTLINED

Local Chamber Commerce Plans To Be Incorporated

Directors of Circleville Chamber of Commerce have voted to seek incorporation of the group as a non-profit organization.

The action follows a similar move made by Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce several months ago.

Joe Bell, director, was appointed to take charge of filing the necessary paper, seeking incorporation.

Bell said the advantage of incorporation is that in legal actions the chamber as a whole can be held liable, but not its individual members.

Chamber members also listened to a discussion of new Social Security laws by C. C. Darby of the Columbus Social Security office.

Darby explained how new laws affect self-employed persons.

He said that self-employed persons make up the largest group brought under social security last Jan. 1.

NOT INCLUDED for Social Security credit are earnings from operating a farm, or from self-employment as a lawyer, physician, dentist, osteopath, chiropractor, naturopath, Christian Science practitioner, optometrist, veterinarian, professional engineer, architect, funeral director or public accountant.

Also not covered, either in employment or self-employment, are the services of a duly ordained, commissioned or licensed member of a church when the services are performed in the exercise of his ministry, or services performed by a member of a religious order in the exercise of duties required by his order, Darby said.

He said that self-employed persons entitled to social security pay one and one-half times as much as an employee would pay on the same earnings, but less than the total payment of employee and employer.

"Contributions of self-employed persons toward old-age and survivors insurance protection for themselves and their families will be payable when they file their income tax returns," Darby explained, adding:

"Their first contribution will be made in 1952. At that time they must fill in a self-employment income schedule on their income tax return."

British Chief Hinted Planning Parley In U.S.

LONDON, April 27—Qualified political sources said today that Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison probably will fly to Washington soon to discuss with American officials shortages in Britain of vital raw materials.

There were other predictions in the wake of the leftwing revolt within the government that important changes in the cabinet structure will be made.

The political writer of the Daily Mail said that during a visit by Morrison yesterday to hospitalized Prime Minister Clement Attlee both agreed that changes must be made in view of political problems and the international situation.

The United States decision to allocate 95 thousand tons of sulphur for Britain brought immediate expressions of appreciation because it will relieve the immediate situation.

But the shortages of other raw materials, as pointed out by Morrison, is causing concern. For this reason Morrison is expected to go to Washington personally to seek further allocation.

Faster Liquor Hearings Pledged

COLUMBUS, April 27 — The Franklin County common pleas court has agreed to hear all outstanding liquor cases by June 15.

It is believed he may be accompanied by Sir Hartley Shawcross, newly appointed president of the board of trade.

and all future cases within one month of their filing date.

Attorney General C. William O'Neill said yesterday he obtained the agreement through a state statute which allows liquor appeals cases to be placed ahead of all other civil cases on the court calendar.

Some tavern operators have stayed open as long as 14 months after an adverse liquor control board decision, through an injunction pending final settlement of their appeal.

Milk was first sold in glass containers in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1878.

BASEBALL IS BACK
OFFICIALLY the big league baseball season is in full swing, and the great American sport will be the principal attraction for millions of Americans until September 30. The designation "principal attraction" is used advisedly. That is precisely what baseball is.

From sand lot to Yankee Stadium its place is secure in the minds of the American people, who not only follow every play in every game they witness, but understand the strategy behind it.

Baseball is a game of both skill and action. As such it has developed great personalities whose popularity transcends that of many figures in public life.

Baseball is an honest game, and only once in its long history has it borne the stigma of crookedness, and then only briefly. The very nature of the competition makes impossible any manipulation which might keep the better team from winning.

Millions enjoy baseball on television or over the radio, but other millions still prefer a seat in the stands or bleachers, among the peanuts and hot dogs—where they can express their own opinions of the umpires.

If baseball provides a brief respite from the worries of the day for a sizable segment of the population, it will not only be the national game—it will be all but indispensable.

GET THE FACTS!
THERE can be no substitute for a full-scale investigation of the nation's foreign policy by Congress, now that General Douglas MacArthur has addressed the members. If the administration uses its vast patronage powers in an attempt to circumvent the will of the people, the fight must go on unabated until it is forced to yield.

The United States of America has never been plunged into a position so humiliating as that in which it wallows in Korea. President Truman and all his sycophants are saying that there can be no withdrawal from Korea, nor will the war be prosecuted to victory. Apparently all that is going to happen is that the British are going to continue to do business with the Chinese Reds through Hong Kong while American boys continue to die in Korea.

Remembering what happened in the Pearl Harbor investigation in 1945, by a commission packed with administration apologists, the people should continue to keep in touch with their Congressmen to let them know they will not tolerate similar shenanigans this time.

It is the duty of Congress to ascertain, if it can, just what the administration is driving at.

William I. Nichols, editor of This Week magazine wants a new word for "Capitalism." The assumption is that words really matter. Call "Capitalism" or "Communism" or "Socialism" by any other name and nothing has been changed. It is like switching from "New Deal" to "Fair Deal." What real change occurred?

Nichols says in his article that propagandists are able to make a good case against Communism, but, when it comes to Capitalism, he quotes a top official of "our overseas information program" as saying:

"But it's nowhere near as easy to make the good side of our society plain by using the word Capitalism. That's important. We need a word to make people realize that the real source of hope, progress and prosperity rests with us."

According to Nichols, American business leaders say:

"We only muddle our own thinking when we use old words to describe new ideas."

I wonder whether it is true that we are dealing with new ideas or old words. The word "Capitalism" is comparatively new—just a century old, but the idea has been eternal in the human race, namely, that an individual is entitled to the use of his earnings from whatever source, to spend, to invest, to create new wealth, or to give away.

Capitalism functions best when the surplus over the cost of living is invested in the creation of additional wealth. Thus, the savings of millions of human beings have gone into the development of privately owned farms, factories, mills, mines, stores, and into the invention of new devices, commodities, and services.

This is the general nature of Capitalism, the most usual process of economics throughout history. Capitalism, however, must be associated with human freedom. Limitations of human freedom can only be sanctioned and implemented by government. When government abolishes freedom, despotism, autocracy, slavery, serfdom come into existence. Also the private ownership of wealth disappears.

When the means of production, distribution, and exchange are owned by the government, the freedoms of the individual are limited. If they cease to exist altogether, a socialized state arises in which slavery may be normal.

Socialists dislike the statement that their advocacy of government ownership by Democratic processes can only lead to government ownership by tyranny. But this has proved to be true in many countries of Europe. No matter how a so-called people's government starts, it becomes in time a Communist government.

Human freedom is a delicate system which requires the most careful balance between authority and obligation. Once this balance is upset, freedom diminishes and even disappears and in its place appears increasing state control, management and sometimes ownership of the economic process. The reaction to that may be revolution.

President Truman, like Roosevelt did before him, is alleged to be worrying about how he will go down in history, and not without cause.

The average citizen may take too little interest in government, as charged, but he is rapidly becoming convinced the government is taking too much of his principal.

CHAPTER FIFTY-TWO

NEXT MORNING they heard the steady tramp of feet and through a crack in the shutter saw a column of British soldiers marching along the frozen road toward Buffalo. They presented the look of a well-disciplined regiment on parade and Janet was somehow reassured. Surely soldiers such as these would not allow their Mohaw! allies to massacre and burn... But a maniacal whooping split the air.

She caught Erron's hand, her eyes wide with terror.

He spoke low. "They'll stop—they'll be looking for liquor—and when they do, I'll deal with them. You run through the kitchen door. Take your pistol—run!"

"Leave you here?"

"You do as I say!" he commanded.

Wild whooping sounded nearer; pounding at the taproom door.

"Who is it?" demanded Erron.

"Peter Brant."

"Peter!" Janet flew to the bar-rack of tables, began to tug at them. "Make haste!" said Peter outside. "Heip me," cried Janet sharply to Erron. "Peter's come to save this place!"

Peter, horrible in war paint, came into the room.

He did not speak. He touched one finger to the vermilion on his own face, and with it painted a sign on her forehead. Then he turned to go.

But just then the door crashed open, a dozen savages, whooping, stumbled into the room. Erron brought his rifle to his shoulder.

The Mohawks drew back, staring at the sign on Janet's forehead, some turning vengeful glances on Peter. Peter pointed to the door and with guttural muttering, they fled out. Peter followed.

"Oh!" She put her hands to her throat. "He's gone!" Then she turned and flung herself against Erron, sobbing shakingly.

He held her with an awkward tenderness, his face concerned, yet angered that she should be weeping over a half-breed. Don't you cry for any savage...

By his blinding, said, "Don't you dare call Peter that!"

"I didn't mean to offend you," said Erron stiffly.

She covered her face but after a moment she dropped her hands. Her lips were trembling but her eyes were dry. "It's—it's just that it's—it's terribly hard for a girl to lose a dream she's cherished..."

"Guess 'tis," said Erron, gently. He went to the floor boards under which the liquor was hidden. "A bit of brandy'll help you, maybe." Still on one knee, his head turned from her, he said, "The fellow saved your life—you'll have that to remember about him."

"My life! Yes. But there are all those others!"

Erron made her swallow some of the brandy, watching her anxiously to see some color come into her face. It did, a little. "Now, if you'd wash off that red grease..."

She ran to the peg in the hallway where her heavy cape and hood hung. "I'm going to the Buffalo village! If I go along the river bank..."

He picked up his rifle. "You're not going alone."

Quint was not in the jail.

Word had come to the Buffalo village of the surrender of Fort Niagara. The village stood abandoned except for a company of militia and those of the civilians who chose to stay.

Judge Merriam and Ollie Kane were among these. Judge Merriam had gone to the jail and ordered the guard to let the prisoners out of it. The judge himself unlocked the door that confined Quint, taking satisfaction in doing so.

After his long confinement, the sharp air outside hurt Quint's lungs as it filled them, the sunlight, thin as it was, his eyes. This was freedom—the sun and air. His instinct was to stand still, to know to the deepest part of him that this freedom was his again, but the Judge was urging him on to the Terrace. Drums were assembling the militia there.

The Judge snarled angrily. "Look at 'em! Not a full company! Catoon may be on his way with reinforcements but we've not a hope they'll get here in time."

He led Quint to where Ollie Kane had gathered volunteers. "Can you shoot a pistol, Darby?"

When Quint said, "Yes," he took one from under his coat and gave it over to Quint.

A scout came galloping up from the river road. The British were as near as Scajaquada! A whole regiment...

The Mohawks were following, setting torches to houses and barns along the way. The buildings were empty—the Black Rock folks had moved back country, but the savages were burning 'em just the same!

The yard. The brig. The tavern. Quint's detachment dropped from elect him, four years to wonder what he will do next and forever to live with the results.

DIET AND HEALTH

Laxative Drugs Often Abused

By HERMAN M. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ONE of the greatest of current abuses is that of the laxative drugs. It has gone on for years and it still continues despite all attempts to educate people to a better way of handling the problem of constipation.

So many people have a fixed idea that a daily bowel movement is absolutely necessary for good health. This is not true and its falsity has been proved over and over again, but to no avail. Despite all scientific demonstration to the contrary, people continue to believe that toxic wastes are absorbed by the bowel and continue to take unnecessary laxatives.

Stronger and Stronger

Unfortunately once this habit is established, stronger and stronger remedies are needed and, before long, severe bowel irritation occurs.

The laxative habit may start often-times during a hospital stay. A mild degree of constipation, due to inactivity, is natural for persons confined to bed, but this is forgotten, and the patient is given a laxative so that he may have a daily bowel movement. The acutely ill patient may only be made worse in many instances by the strain of emptying

"THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR FAIR DEALING"

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—Among the familiar souls in the Lindy's set is a tall and mournfully mirthful comedian named Jan Murray, who has come up through the woods the hard way in his peculiar profession and at present enjoys a fairly high standing. He makes theater and nightclub appearances and is enjoyed regularly by the torn and twisted neurotics who watch television (this comment is the handiwork of a man who still doesn't own a TV set).

I do not know Mr. Murray's press agent, which is a strange turn of affairs, because sometimes it seems as if anyone who writes any kind of a column about anything surely must know every press agent ever born, and a few extra.

I am not ungrateful to press agents, because some of them have steered me onto good stories (and others have introduced me to things like Diana Lynn (this is my Diana Lynn morning)).

I am roused to great admiration for Mr. Murray's press agent today, however, because I have at hand two separate Ten Best Dressed Men in America lists—and the melancholy Mr. Murray is on both of them. Of course these strange collections, bearing sharp resemblance to the ratings of My Ten Favorite Movie Actresses that nine-year-old girls scribble down on rainy days, are ridiculous affairs. But for Mr. Murray to make both of them is some kind of achievement.

One is offered by the Custom Tailors Guild of America, Inc., and the other by the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furriers. It is likely that in the Lindy's set, Mr. Murray is being praised highly these days—not for making both lists, but for having a press agent ingenious enough to get him on both lists.

I AM MILDLY CONFUSED AT MR. MURRAY'S SELECTION by the Retail Clothiers, since they say his "smartly-tailored suits enable him at all times to look broad-shouldered and slim-bodied."

I was under the impression that this year's man wouldn't be caught dead with wide shoulders and narrow hips. Most of the $50-and-up clothing stores I have passed along Manhattan's streets lately have been featuring the no-shoulders-at-all, baggy-stomach jacket.

It is as if the Yale and Harvard boys, with their painfully conscientious campaigns to accentuate "naturalness," have taken over the style world. This motif, incidentally, is a tragic turn of events for somebody like me. Even with padded shoulders I resemble nothing so much as, in John Barrymore's classic phrase, a pregnant stringbean. No shoulders at all.

I always hoot at these ten-best lists because the best-dressed man I know is a trombonist living down on West 19th street, who never goes to the right places to be seen, and who the Custom Tailors wouldn't know from a hole in the wall. I doubt if this perturbs the Custom Tailors. I am sure they operate on the old Broadway publicity theory—let the cynics say what they will about us, but make sure they spell the name right.

I note that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower also is on both lists, but this cannot be charged to a press agent's handiwork (I imagine), and thus is less of an accomplishment. The general probably got on the lists because he is well-dressed, a poor excuse indeed.

I already have commented on the hilarity of tapping Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt to such a list—he's on the Retail Clothiers—and I would like to suggest that Gregory Peck, who is on the same list, also is less than a Tony Williams fashionplate.

THE RETAIL CLOTHIERS INSIST that Phil Rizzuto, the Yankees' shortstop, looks well dressed "even when sliding into second base," but young Philip lost out with the Custom Tailors to an amiable Pittsburgh outfielder named Ralph Kiner, the victory being based "on his superior ability to 'wear clothes well,' possibly due to his better physique."

This smacks slightly of superiority toward small men—Mr. Rizzuto is about as large as a policeman's whistle—and I would suggest to the Custom Tailors that they keep their eyes peeled for slander suits from bantamweights.

Offhand, I would say that about two months ago not one person in 10,000 in these United States knew who Rudolph Halley was. But came the dawn of the Kefauver trial by TV, and the owlish Mr. Halley, won many new friends and enemies by his shrewd, if occasionally waspish, cross-examining of gangsters sitting before him—and lo, today he is one of the Custom Tailors' ten-best dressed men.

I hope Mr. Halley realizes the importance of the authority vested in him and will keep that trust, even if it means changing his socks daily.

Kiernan's ONE MAN'S OPINION

Six hundred newspaper publishers were together in New York all week and none knew all the answers to all our problems. That's the difference between a publishers convention and a political convention.

Politicians go to a convention with all the answers; publishers go with all the questions. A good thing, it is, too, considering the way a political convention works.

It takes four minutes to nominate a candidate, four months to

Pickaway County Is Tied To Pike Election Dispute

Officials in Columbus revealed Friday that "certain" Pickaway County are indirectly involved in the current board of elections dispute in Pike County.

A state official said that an undisclosed number of Pickaway residents voted in the last election in Pike County. Whether these same persons also voted in Pickaway County was not immediately determined.

However, the state official said that "we will investigate that angle in the near future." He indicated the questionable voters were from the southwestern part of the county.

A state investigation of the Pike County case is being conducted by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown who said Thursday that he expects to make his decision on the tie vote of the Pike County board of elections as to whether that county shall have countywide registration in the very near future. Brown gave the background as follows:

Major Measures Still Holed Up With Committees

COLUMBUS April 27 — Behind the scenes subcommittees are bearing the brunt of the work today as the Ohio Legislature went into weekend recess following its 17th week of sessions.

Hopefully aiming at May 18 as a final working day and at June 1 as the date for final adjournment, the 99th General Assembly nevertheless finds itself with many bills still in the undecided stage. Many of the most important ones are in the hands of little-publicized but hard-working subcommittees.

A controversial bill, after public hearing by a standing committee, is frequently shunted to a subcommittee of members who are willing to work without fanfare and who attempt to iron out the bugs in proposed legislation and overcome most of the more valid objections.

In this category today are such measures as the school bill, congressional re-districting measures, fair employment practices legislation, bills to return control of poor relief to the counties, bills to increase truck and gasoline taxes, the bill to padlock gambling joints, local government aid bills, and bills to amend the unemployment compensation law.

Red Casualties Set At 30,000

TOKYO, April 27 — United Nations ground, air and sea forces inflicted more than 30,000 casualties on the Communists in Korea in the first three days of the enemy's Spring offensive.

A compilation of official claims up to midnight Wednesday showed:

- Eighth Army: 22,255 Reds killed or wounded, 293 captured.
- Fifth Air Force: 5,000 or more killed or wounded.
- Navy Air Force: 2,980 killed or wounded.
- Total: 30,235 killed or wounded, plus 293 captured.

The only Communist claim of casualties inflicted on allied forces said they killed or wounded 2,067 troops in a single day's action Tuesday.

Reds Bayonet UN Wounded

IN KOREA, April 27 — Front dispatches reaching Eighth Army headquarters tonight reported that Chinese troops had bayoneted helpless United Nations wounded being evacuated from the Korean front lines.

The reports said the Red troops rained down flaming white phosphorous shells on a convey of ambulances bringing wounded back from the bloody fighting in the current Red counter offensive.

After plastering the ambulances with the searing white phosphorous, the Chinese reportedly finished off the wounded with their bayonets.

The Settlement in Canaan

JOSHUA DIVIDED THE LAND BY LOT

Scripture—Joshua 1:1-9; 14; 24; Judges 1-2; 21:25

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

TODAY, when our nation goes to war, the older men are not usually called into active service, or to positions of great danger. It is young men who do the actual fighting. In our lesson two aged men, Joshua and Caleb, were leaders of their people. They were among the men whom Moses chose to spy out the land of Canaan, and the only ones who brought back a favorable report. Joshua, after Moses' death, was called by God to lead His people into the land to conquer it, and Caleb, 85 years old at the time, but strong and capable as he had been at 40, offered to defeat the people of the land of Horeb and claim it for his own.

The Lord said to Joshua, "Moses, my servant is dead; now therefore arise, go over this Jordan, thou, and all this people, unto the land which I do give to them, even to the children of Israel."

Joshua obeyed, and the Lord promised that He would be with him always. "Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed; for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest."

After Joshua had obeyed the Lord, and crossed Jordan, the men of the tribes drew lots for the parcels of land. Caleb came to Joshua, asking that the land of Horeb be given to him. He had chosen this land—the best in the country—and was prepared to go out and conquer it for himself, although it was hilly land and well fortified.

It was given to him, and he did subdue it.

Joshua called all the tribes and their elders together, and he reminded them of all the Lord had done for them, bringing them out of Egypt, helping them to overcome their enemies. He also reminded them that their forefathers—even Abraham, before the Lord called him—worshipped idols, and warned them against that sin. The Lord had said, Joshua related:

"And I have given you a land for which ye did not labor, and cities which ye built not, and ye dwell in them; of the vineyards and oliveyards which ye planted not do ye eat."

"Now therefore fear the Lord, and serve him in sincerity and truth; and put away the gods which your fathers served on the other side of the flood, and in Egypt; and serve ye the Lord."

Further, Joshua commanded his people: "Choose you this day whom ye will serve; whether the gods which your fathers served that were on the other side of the flood, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye dwell: but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

The people answered, "God forbid that we should forsake the Lord, to serve other gods."

Joshua said: "The Lord: He is a holy God; He is a jealous God; He will not forgive your transgressions nor your sins."

"If ye forsake the Lord, and serve strange gods, then He will turn and do you hurt, and consume you, after that He hath done you good."

The people answered again, "Nay, but we will serve the Lord."

Then Joshua said, "Ye are witnesses against yourselves that ye have chosen you the Lord, to serve Him. And they said, 'We are witnesses.'"

So Joshua made a covenant with the people and set them a statute and an ordinance, and he wrote the words in the book of the law.

The people did keep their allegiance to their God while Joshua lived. When he died they buried him in the border of his inheritance. And the bones of Joseph, who had died in Egypt, and which he had requested be brought to his homeland, were buried in a hill.

Alas! after Joshua's death, the people forsook the Lord and worshipped strange gods. They had been ordered to destroy or drive out the conquered people whose lands they took, but they had not done so. They had done this in part, but in Judges I we read the list of peoples that were allowed to remain in the country, and the Israelites lived among them.

An angel of the Lord warned them that if they did not overthrow the altars of the strange gods of these people, that they would become "as thorns in your sides, and their gods shall be a snare unto you."

And so it was. As they left the service of God to worship the idols, Baal and Ashtaroth, the anger of their God was "hot against Israel." Nevertheless, the Lord raised up judges to keep His people from being despoiled, but they would not be saved.

"What was the answer? We read in the last verse of Judges: 'In those days there was no king in Israel: every man did that which was right in his own eyes.'"

Later we read how the Lord chose a king to rule over this disobedient people.

And so it was. As they left the service of God to worship the idols, Baal and Ashtaroth, the anger of their God was "hot against Israel." Nevertheless, the Lord raised up judges to keep His people from being despoiled, but they would not be saved.

NEWEST, FINEST IN AUTOMATIC CENTRAL HEATING COMFORT

Here's low-cost heating magic that gives amazing even-heat distribution. Individual heat regulation in every room with over-all thermostat control. Pre-engineered and prefabricated, simple and easy to install. Small 3 1/2-inch warm air ducts save up to $100 on installation. Install Blend-Air for a better heated home.

This simple, small 3 1/2-inch prefabricated pipe fits any construction. A revolutionary new achievement that simplifies installation, reduces its cost. Flexible elbows bend around obstacles easily. Save costly metalwork on the job, speed installation.

Each room has its own individual blender. It receives (through the 3 1/2-inch ducts) the warm air from the furnace. This pulls in room air and blends it with the freshly heated furnace air; circulates the blended air through the room, giving even, moving warmth for healthful comfort.

Here is the powerful modumatic-comfort Coleman furnace that forces warm air through individual ducts leading to each room. Compact, space-saving, a powerful heating plant.

Inspect Blend-Air before you put any heat in your home!

If you have not seen Blend-Air in operation, you cannot know how this new, modern development in the heating industry heats evenly for whole-house warmth. It's backed by Coleman's national reputation for precision manufacture and economy performance. Lowers the cost of installing central heating — puts it within reach of thousands more American home owners!

Let us show you the new revolutionary Blend-Air. Let us show you why "Comfort costs so little with a Coleman!"

COLISEUM AWAITS CHILL

County's First Ice Show Scheduled For Weekend

First ice show ever booked in Pickaway County was due to arrive in Circleville Friday, afternoon.

It is "Icelandia," which is scheduled to play in Fairgrounds Coliseum Saturday night and the following afternoon.

Circleville is one of two Ohio cities which Icelandia is playing as it moves from the east to West Coast.

First truckload of equipment was to arrive from Zanesville where the show played two days. From Circleville, Icelandia is going to Logansport, Ind., and thence into Iowa and Nebraska. It is due in Reno, Nev., in July and then hops to California.

ICELANDIA WILL set up its own ice rink on the coliseum's basketball floor. A large portion of this area will be taken by the rink with the balance roped off for reserved seats. Existing bleachers will give show-goers "ringside" seats.

Saturday night's show is scheduled 8:30 with the Sunday matinee booked for 2:30 p.m. There will be no change in programs except that the matinee will contain special features for youngsters.

Icelandia sports a cast of about 50 persons and features the McCusker family. One of these is Dot McCusker, acclaimed by many as the greatest comedienne on ice.

Perhaps the top star of the troupe will be Shirley Lander, former Pacific Coast figure-skating champion.

Shirley baffled the figure-skating world with her meteoric rise to fame in amateur competitions. Born in Seattle, she donned her first pair of blades at the ripe old age of 13 and at 14 was Seattle ladies champion.

AT SIXTEEN, the blonde-haired lassie started a fabulous streak of winning, adding three consecutive Pacific Coast crowns to her record. Jumping from the coast to New York, she came in as runner-up in the Nationals—and 1947 saw Shirley receive the most coveted technical diploma a figure skater can be awarded, passing her "Gold Medal" test and reigning as the first silver blade artist from the West Coast to do so.

Also in the cast are Mae Edwards, said to be one of the most versatile silver blade interpreters in the business; Buff McCusker, one of America's leading male skaters and Sonja Henie's skating partner in the ice film, "Wintertime"; Chuck Rolland, said to get more elevation from his skates than any other "jumper" and Joanie McCusker, formerly of "Ice Follies" fame.

Because of its unusual setup, Icelandia may prove to be just as interesting in its preparations as it is in actual production.

John Heiskell, county fair board secretary who books the show, reported that the ice rink will be set up on varied layers of canvas and insulation material to separate the slab of ice from the floor.

Icelandia has its own portable ice rink, complete with compressors, brine coolers, 24-ton trailer and tractor and stage settings.

Even the cooling system, composed of a large amount of pipe, is carried along with the assorted equipment necessary for a production like Icelandia. Full freezing time is about 18 hours.

CHS Tracksters Lose By 65-52 At Westerville

Circleville's Red and Black track team suffered a 65-52 loss Thursday in a cinder meet at Westerville.

Tiger cindermen chalked up only five first place wins during the 14-event meet, while earning eight second places and three third places.

Westerville topped the locals by scoring nine first places, four seconds and eight thirds.

Winning events for Circleville in the contest were Ken Weaver in the mile run; Harold McClarren in 220-yard hurdles; Jim Leist, half mile run; and John Cockrell, wins in both shotput and discus.

NEXT MEET for the Tiger thinclads is slated for Wednesday afternoon at Columbus South with Upper Arlington.

Ashville Is County Champion

Darby Bested By 7-3 Margin

Ashville Broncos baseball team Thursday won the 1951 Pickaway County baseball championship crown with a 7-3 victory over Darby Trojan hardballers in Ted Lewis Park.

Thursday's championship victory springboarded the undefeated Ashville aggregation into the district Class B tournament beginning next week in Columbus.

Darby batsmen out-hit the championship Ashville crew during Thursday's title test, although losing the crown by bobbling the ball nine times.

Trojan swatters opened the championship encounter with a single run in the first inning.

Capitalizing on the Trojan ball-bobbling, Ashville romped into the lead during the second frame of the fracas with a six-run scoring spree, following with a single in the third stanza for a 7-1 advantage.

DARBY KEPT punching throughout the remainder of the game, but was unable to overcome the Ashville lead although scoring single runs in each the fifth and seventh.

Ashville collected its championship crown in the contest with seven runs on only two hits while Darby was able to score only three runs on 10 safeties, two of them triples.

Chuck Messick of Ashville was credited with the victory for the Broncos, fanning four of the

Senators' Flashy Cuban Pitcher Almost Wins Hall-Of-Fame Berth

NEW YORK, April 27 — Conrado "Chico" Marrero, a stocky little Cuban who does his talking in Spanish and his pitching for the Washington Senators, established himself today as a caballero with mucho talent.

Marrero is a big reason why the amazing Senators are tied for the American League leadership.

The popular Cuban ranch-owner came within one pitch of making the hall-of-fame last night as he pitched his team to a 2 to 1, one-hit victory over the lowly Philadelphia Athletics.

Marrero, a control - pitching righty, made one too good to Barney McCoskey in the fourth inning and the veteran pitcher for a homer, thus ruining the senator's bid for a shutout and wiping out his no-hitter.

Marrero faced only 30 men as he recorded his second win of the season. He struck out nine and walked two.

Chico, who is 34 years old, came to Washington last season after winning 70 games in three years with Havana in the Florida International League. He had a 6-10 record last season.

HOMERUNS by Mickey Vernon and Gil Coan off Joe Coleman provided the Nats with their sixth win in seven starts and deadlocked them with the idle Cleveland Indians for first place. It was Philadelphia's seventh straight loss.

Only four games were played in the majors yesterday and three of them were studded with brilliant pitching.

The only contest where pitching was foreign was the donkeybrook between the World Champion New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox, in which Soxos power finally asserted itself.

The Fenway maulers jumped on Tommy Byrne, Allie Reynolds, Bob Porterfield and Tom Morgan for 13 hits and a 13 to 7 win over the Bronx Bombers.

The victory was the first over the Yanks this season for Boston and it snapped a four-game homer winning streak.

The other two games were in the National League; both were shutouts.

Philadelphia's Champion Phillies topped the Brooklyn Dodgers, 2 to 0 for their fifth straight win and Brooklyn's third straight loss. Robin Roberts, Darby batsmen. Charles Bayes of Darby was charged with the loss although whiffing seven of the Ashville batters. Both hurlers gave up three walks each.

Darby's hitting power in the game was paced by Pitcher Bayes, who tallied three singles in four trips to plate. Chaffin and Kreider of Darby both poled out triples.

Ashville's brace of hits came from the bats of Teegardin and Swoyer, both singles.

Ashville was awarded the championship trophy following the contest, while Darby was accorded second place honors in this year's eight-team double elimination tournament.

Farm Home Building Question: 'When'

1 In 8 Plans Construction Before 1953

Rural Folk Know What They Want

When it comes to building a new home, farm families know what they want—the question is more "when" than "if."

So believes Larry Best, Pickaway County agricultural agent, who said one out of eight Midwest farm families plans to build before 1953.

He said the figures were obtained from a survey taken recently by the Agricultural Experiment Station.

The survey was taken in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture and approximately 900 families took part. They were selected to give a cross-section of the wants and desires of 2,270,000 farm families living in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

A ONE-STORY HOUSE with six or seven rooms, a sloping roof and central heating was first choice. The house must have one or more porches, a spare bedroom, a basement or cellar, coat closet on the first floor, a separate dining room, first floor workroom, and a drive so planned in relation to the house that callers will come to the front door.

Though one-story houses proved the most popular, of the families that preferred two stories about three-fourths, said they wanted one or more bedrooms down stairs, and a bathroom on the first floor if there was no lavatory.

Most families wanted to have a dining area in the kitchen but many of them wanted an additional dining room which could accommodate six or more persons.

Baking, food preservation and sewing were activities which women mentioned in their planning for a new home.

About half the women asked for drying space in the basement for the family laundry and three-fourths of all the families interviewed needed space to use as a farm business center—many of them considered a desk adequate.

Shortcomings of farm houses were: 75 percent lacked bathrooms, 60 percent lacked running water, 55 percent lacked basement with finished walls and floor, 65 percent had fewer than one clothes closet for each bedroom in the house, 30 percent lacked adequate number of bedrooms on the basis of household size and composition, and 30 percent lacked electricity.

British Minister Given New Post

LONDON, April 27—British Minister of Works Richard Stokes was named today by Prime Minister Attlee to Lord Privy Seal and to head a new department which will handle the urgent raw materials problem.

The post of Lord Privy Seal, left vacant by the death of former Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, is a minor one. Stokes' biggest job will be in trying to solve problems related to the materials shortage.

Replacing Stokes as minister of works is George Brown, parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Agriculture.

Daylight Saving Time Slated To Start Sunday

CLEVELAND, April 27—About three million Ohioans will "lose" an hour out of their lives Sunday morning when the state's annual clock confusion period gets underway.

The switch takes place officially at 2 a. m. when residents in the northeast corner of the state turn their clocks one hour ahead to change from Eastern Standard to Daylight Saving Time.

The "fast time"—or daylight saving—belt is smaller this year than ever before and roughly includes all cities north and east of a line drawn from Lorain on the lake to Martins Ferry on the Ohio river.

Included in this belt are Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Elyria, Medina, East Liverpool, Warren, Niles, Columbiana, Steubenville and Cadiz, as well as Lorain and Martins Ferry.

One new daylight time "pocket" will come into effect May 21 when Mount Vernon in Knox County makes the switch. That is the day a recent city ordinance goes into effect.

Canton remains on standard time as a result of Common Pleas Judge Paul Weber's ruling which upheld results of a city election on the issue.

Other cities north and east of Canton, however, such as Alliance, Hartsville and Navarre, will change to fast time, a situation which should make "what time is it?" the most popular question in Stark County this Summer.

Major cities to remain on standard time include the state's capital, Columbus, as well as Cincinnati and Dayton.

Teenagers Cited In Dope Ring

CINCINNATI, April 27 — Cincinnati police expect to arrest "several" teenagers today in an effort to smash a Queen City juvenile marijuana ring.

Officers arrested Webster Turner, 45; his 18-year-old son, Webster Jr., and two juveniles last night in connection with the ring.

The youths said they have been frequenting hangouts where they encouraged other young fellows to smoke marijuana "just for kicks."

Expert Reports On U.S. Strength

CLEVELAND, April 27—A metallurgy expert says the United States is strong enough technologically to meet any world crisis.

Dr. Clyde Williams, director of the Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus, made his appraisal of the nation's scientific potential in a speech to the American Institute of Chemists' Ohio chapter last night in Cleveland.

He labeled our research position "the strongest in the world," several times greater than at the close of World War II.

Dr. Williams, head of the nation's metallurgical research in the last war, was given the chapter's 1951 scroll of honor for leadership in technology in the state.

But If He Sees That Rabbit Again

EAST LIVERPOOL, April 27—"Bones", like most dogs, knows rabbits were made to be chased so he did just what came naturally.

But no one had told him that this certain rabbit lived in such a big underground cave.

The cave was so big in fact, that it took a 15-man rescue crew, a strip mine drilling rig and some dynamite to free "Bones" from his four day stay in the rabbit's lair.

"Bones" is resting comfortably at home now, but if he ever sees that rabbit out in the open again—

Pension-Boosting Bills Given OK By Ohio Senate

COLUMBUS, April 27—The senate will send over to the house Monday two bills which would cost about $9 million to give a cost of living increase and boosted pensions to Ohio's retired school teachers, non-teaching school employees and other government workers.

Both bills were adopted yesterday afternoon under emergency procedure and would become effective immediately upon the governor's signature.

The measure to give 13,400 public employees a $15 monthly cost of living increase for two years through a $4,824,000 appropriation was passed 24-5. Only those retired before June 1, 1951, would be affected.

The second proposal would increase the pensions of those retiring after June 1, 1953, by about 20 percent by boosting employees' contributions from five to six percent and hiking the cost to appropriate units of government proportionately. It was passed by a 27-2 vote in face of the expressed opposition of Governor Lausche.

The common cold costs Americans about $2 billion a year.
